Do you plan to study full-time or part-time? _____

Note: Full-time will take a maximum of 2 years and part-time would take 3 years. There are clear advantages, even for part-time students, to devote some period of full-time study on campus at Madang during either data analysis and/or thesis chapter writing. If you intend to study part-time, please note that there are attendance requirements and email expectations for regular contact with your supervisor.

You are asked to write a preliminary outline of your proposed research topic. It should be between 1500 – 2000 words in length and should cover;

- The issue/problem you wish to explore and question to be answered by your research
- Why it is important and/or original
- How, in broad terms, you propose to approach it. (Attach an additional sheet if necessary)

Describe any previous work you have done in this area, with reference to relevant papers you have written or literature that you have read.

Mention any equipment or travel requirements associated with your proposed work

Briefly describe how you will be able to work with your supervisor
